Service Tech Corner

Are other people using your internet connection? Wireless routers that are located in densely populated areas can emit a signal into neighboring homes. If your wireless router's security is not enabled, your internet connection is up for grabs. This also opens your network to a host of problems. This may result in your neighbors stealing your internet, and compromising your security. If you live in a more rural area there is no need for concern.

Q & A (8:00-8:30pm)

HAVE YOU LOOKED AT YOUR TELEPHONE BILL LATELY?

If you have not taken the time to look at your telephone bill in a while, now would be a great time to do so.

We work very hard to make sure your telephone bill is accurate, but sometimes things get missed. We want to make sure your statement is correct. Your telephone bill shows you what call features you have, i.e. caller id, call forwarding. It reflects the speed of your internet service, or if you have a bundled package, which one you are subscribed to. If you have long distance, your telephone bill indicates who your long distance carrier is. It reflects your long distance calls and how many minutes each call was. Some of our customers have experienced being slammed by other providers for services they did not authorize. These are
